

How to get to Naples

Naples is the largest city in southern Italy. It is easily accessible from the main Italian cities. Naples has an international airport (Naples-Capodichino) and a main train station (Naples-Central Station) with high speed train (FrecciaRosso or Italo) connecting Naples with Rome in just over an hour and Naples to Milan in 4 hours and one half.

Airport - Naples Capodichino

Naples International Airport is located a few Km from downtown city. It is confirming its role as the gateway from Southern Italy to Europe through its daily direct connections with major European hubs.

The easiest way to reach the city from the airport is by taxi. The taxi stop is located just outside the Airport Arrivals. Clients may choose flat fares which must be requested at the beginning of the trip:

From/To		Euro
Capodichino Airport	Molo Beverello (Main Port)	19,00
	Sea-front hotels (nearby hotels)	23,00
	Piazza Municipio (nearby hotels)	19,00

The complete city base rates upon entry can be downloaded here (radiotaxinapoli_en.pdf). For further taxi information see <http://www.consorziotaxinapoli.it>.

There is also a bus service, named ALIBUS, which links airport to downtown city. This bus makes two stops: one at the central railway station and the second at Piazza Municipio (near the hotels). Bus ticket can be done on board and its price is of 3,00 €.

The departure of this bus is just outside the Airport Arrivals.

Train – Naples Central Station

Naples has good rail links to Bologna, Firenze, Genova, Milan, Rome, Salerno, Turin. The high speed train (FrecciaRossa or Italo) connecting Naples to Milan in less than 5 hours, via Bologna, Florence and Rome.
